Background

I'm a self-taught 3D artist with an intermediate command of Blender, having independently built a portfolio of original assets and developed a solid working knowledge of 3D pipelines: skills I've pursued alongside completing my A-levels, informed in part by early exposure to industry tools through my father's career in the space. I'm now applying to study 3D Animation at BA Honours level to formalise and build on the technical foundation I've already established through self-directed practice.
